A New Transition

I am pleased to be able to share with you a new addition to our church staff. Neal Hendrick has joined us as Director of Children and Youth Ministries. Neal is a graduate of Conway High School, the University of South Carolina (B. A. in Religious Studies), and received a Master of Arts degree from Columbia International Seminary and School of Missions in December 2009. Many of you know Neal and have watched him grow up here at FUMC. Many of you are also familiar with his work in youth ministry, both here at FUMC and at North Conway Baptist Church. This addition brings a conclusion to a long (and mostly patient) search to find the person God intends to direct this vital area of ministry in our church.

During this search we have been blessed to have Cindy Harper and Julie Carter share the many responsibilities of this position in an interim capacity. Their faithfulness and hard work have ensured good ministries for our children and youth during this interim. From time to time, individuals are asked to serve the church in such extraordinary ways; and these ladies join some of you who have served this church in the past.

I thank you all for your prayers and patience as we move from an interim environment into the new and exciting future God has for our church. And remember, God loves you; and so do I!

Refrigerator Art Show

Today! Children's art work will be displayed in the first floor commons area of the educational building. This annual Refrigerator Art Show is a result of Liturgical Arts Week held at FUMC last summer. All of the art work is original. Featured pieces will be oil on canvas.

Caitlin Beidler of Redemption Art in Myrtle Beach was our Artist-in-Residence. Participants learned about who we are as Methodists, our liturgy, our music, our heritage, and created art both visual and performing.

Stop by the commons area before you leave the building today to see the creativity of some of our children at First United Methodist Church.
