Join Us for Table Talk!

What if...

sharing Bible stories were as easy as sharing a meal?

What if...

you could really talk with your friends about the Bible?

What if...

the church had a program you could take home and use around the dinner table?

Beginning on September 4, the people of First Church will start an exciting new program during our Wonderful Wednesday Fellowship. "Table Talk" is a weekly experience for the whole church family—adults, youth, and children.

We will gather for fellowship, study, and conversation about key stories of the Bible. The stories are basic enough for new Christians, yet have enough unexpected flair to engage the seasoned Bible reader.

Here are the Bible stories in Table Talk:

- Creation
- The Fall
- The Flood
- Father Abraham
- Ten Words
- The Great Commandment

Table Talk is intended for anyone interested in Christian fellowship and the Bible. For more information about this special program and how you can participate, please contact Rev. Kyle at 488-4251 or kyle.randle@fumconway.org.

Don't Settle for the 98%: Did you know it is estimated that only 2% of foster children graduate from college? Only 20% even attempt college, and many say it's because it gives them a place to stay. Our church, through the ministry of Epworth Children's Home, is breaking those odds. This year, all 8 of Epworth's high school seniors not only graduated with their diplomas, but they have all chosen to remain in Epworth's care and continue their education in institutions of higher learning. As United Methodists, these new college freshmen belong to us. Please give generously to Epworth's Annual Work Day Offering on Sunday, September 8th. For more information about Epworth Children's Home, visit them on the web at www.epworthchildrenshome.org.

You may leave your bulletin in the pew and the ushers will gather them for recycle.

First View

The True Face of Jesus

The Discovery Channel has done a documentary about Jesus with an attempt to present the actual face of Jesus, what he really looked like. Anthropologists, artists, historians, and others have teamed together to produce a computer generated image of what Jesus could have possibly looked like. Here's the good news: this Jesus was a striking man. This Jesus looks like someone people would have been drawn to: he looks charismatic, strong, yet also tender and compassionate. His eyes look like they could flash with intensity and passion one moment and brim full with tears of sorrow the next.

As interesting as this speculation and study is, I believe a more important question for us and for the world, is not what Jesus looked like then, but what does Jesus look like now! When people look upon what is now the Body of Christ, what do they see? Here's the Jesus I've seen through the Body of Christ here at First Church.

I've seen a very active Jesus who is caring and providing for those who are in his flock and who are equally committed to embracing those who are "outside" the fold. I've seen a Jesus who opens the doors to the children of our community at our VBS as we shared our talents and resources with the whole people of God. I've seen a Jesus who enlightens the eyes of children as the learned more about how to worship the Almighty at Liturgical Arts Camp. I've seen a generous Jesus who shares God-given resources with children and adults who are hungry with our mission with over 400 sandwiches weekly for Help 4 Kids, snacks, and food collection for CAP. I've seen a Jesus committed to helping others at the Shepherd's Table and preparing to once again pack boxes of love for children around the world with Operation Christmas Child. I've seen a Jesus that is still transforming lives in the form of a young girl wanting to be baptized and a family bringing their baby to be baptized. I see a Body of Christ that is committed to learning and growing and serving in persistent effort to follow Jesus, make disciples and transform our world.

I see a Body of Christ that I am proud to be a part of and who I am eager to share with anyone I come in contact with. Thank you for what you are doing to share this Jesus with our world and with each other—may our efforts be so filled with love and grace that the true face of Jesus shines through us all!
